

CHANGES AND CHALLENGES

Changes and challenges change is a product of human effort the effort must be synthesized. To combining various components into a whole this Common Humanity Mission Inc. means in an aspect of our approach is holistic to synthesize our effort and to be tolerant about in addressing social diversity.

Social diversity is to move from a persecuted minority to the privilege majority. In doing so we will come to know that strength is not designed to dominate another. We will also come to know our inner strength and to dominant another any encounter does not affirm you. The combination different ideas influences or objects into a new whole healthy environment, the change of environment is a paradigm shift as it pertains to your feelings thoughts attitude speech and action, the purpose of coming together is to create a coherent whole however the group must be cognizant and aware of what is actually transpiring, changes in challenges are primarily designed to develop and enhance ones cognizant skills.

We operate as social health engineers do to fact that we are of cognizant that our humanity is endowed with clear sightedness as social beings this is an accomplishment and opportunity to express appreciation for our social graces possessing the necessary cognizant social skills and talent beyond reason to doubt our common humanity.

Acquaintance: somebody or something that is known slightly rather than intimately why is this necessary as it pertains to changes and challenges because sometimes it its makes us apprehensive in dealing with each other we develop a keen sense of awareness of the implications that mat produce entanglement. Comprehending this understanding will minimize unhealthy and unproductive activity of illicit behaviors.

The social standards and customs when in doubt of customs we need a facilitatable memory in order that we may learn from our social experiences the challenge primary deals with feeling of inadequacy. Many leave life in denial of this feeling in thought attitude speech and action however, what serves as a reminder is that behavior does not lie as it pertains to being introduced to life changing events and life challenges. Willing or unwilling voluntarily or involuntarily competently or incompetently consciously or unconsciously recipients of life changing events and life challenges the challenge is to respond in a civil humane manner.

- 1) Fear
- 2) Failure
- 3) Folly
- 4) Frustration
- 5) Transformations
- 6) Transitions

These are the 4 challenges that is to be addressed because of what they produce illiterate ignorant hostile behavior of social obscurity.

Footnote we must sagaciously continue to evolve by learning how to socially reason from the premise of conversation as astutely as we can.

Human vacillation the ups and the downs backs and forth in and out does and don'ts right and wrongs left and right correct incorrect sincere insincere the turns on the turn offs likes and dislikes love and hate peace and war sadness and happiness a reminder if there is an entrance there must be exit. If this is not acknowledged afforded comprehended then we go through life as a hazard which is not safe jeopardizing and endangering the life of others because of the refusal to become a candidate for change for the best of humanity in a civil humane manner social portals of the human emotion.
